

History of the LAOH

Welcome to the Sisterhood!

You are now officially members of the Jr. LAOH Division 23 Lawrenceville! We are the last juniors in Pennsylvania, and one of 13 left in the whole country. Together we strive to help our local communities and uphold our motto; Friendship, Unity, and Christian Charity.

Our History

Of all places, we started in Omaha, Nebraska. The LAOH was officially founded there in 1894 to protect young immigrant Irish girls coming to the U.S., and to assist them in finding careers. Another original aim was to help the young women feel less homesick, because after all, they were 4,145 miles away from home.

Our Local Goal

We are the juniors of the Adult LAOH 23 in Lawrenceville, PA, and so we strive along with our adult sisters to better the community of Lawrenceville through various services such as our annual kid's santa breakfast, and other events through our volunteer correspondent (my dad, AOH 32). Through all tough times and events, we always uphold our main goals; Friendship, Unity, and Christian Charity
